WEST BERLIN.

Frank Rice is at home until the spring opening of the creamery at North Hero.

Mrs. Bert Gove went to Burlington hospital this week for an operation for appendicitis.

A. E. Bryant and family moved to Northfield this week; they will be much missed in town.

Are you good at conundrums? If so, come to C. L. Slack's Wednesday evening, January 30. A party from Gouldsboro will be there.

Miss Elva Chase is quite sick with stomach trouble. Mary Johnstone is still very low. Aunt Hannah Fisher is failing quite fast. Her daughter, Mrs. Galison, of Montpelier, is caring for her.

Mrs. C. L. Slack and Mrs. George Williams will serve a conundrum supper at Mrs. Slack's. Come one, come all, on Wednesday evening. Give them a call for conundrum tea. Be sure and bring your pocket books.

Our town clerk reports fourteen marriages and 14 deaths in town in 1906, the death being that of a non-resident, killed by cars, which makes 113 of our townpeople, which is 11 less than the year before. There were 16 births, or nearly double the number the previous year. He also tells us that the doctor will not return certificates, as the law requires; therefore the records are incomplete.

Large stock of new Edison Records just received. Call and get first choice at A. Giachino's Fruit Store, 155 North Main street, Barre, Vt.

TALK OF THE TOWN.

Local Happenings Tensely Told for Busy Readers.

New spring shirt waists at Perry's. Roller skating this afternoon and evening.

A new line of local postal cards in leather at Dodge's jewelry store. Mrs. F. T. Scott left this morning for a visit with relatives in New York.

Ximenis Wright of Piermont, N. H., was in the city on business yesterday. Remember the big sale of ladies' furs at Perry's. Don't miss this opportunity.

A daughter was born Thursday afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. John Peducci of B street.

Mrs. Julia Cummings of Minneapolis, Minn., is a guest at the home of J. C. Griggs on Summer street.

A few black felt, colored beaver and colored velvet hats to close out for 25 cents by Mrs. W. F. Shepard.

Stanley Berry, who has been visiting at the seminary for a few days, returned this morning to his home in Richmond.

The Clover club will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. M. Tanton on Merchant street.

George Johnston, George Erickson and John Walder left last night for Lovellsburg, Ohio, where they have secured work.

The candle pin match scheduled for last evening between the Rushers and Carvers was postponed until this evening.

Do not fail to read the advertisement of S. J. Segel & Co., the clothiers on Depot square, on page 2. It will interest the boys.

Miss Alice Robson of Salem, Mass., is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Perry on Spaulding street, having arrived in town last evening.

The cost of the public schools in Montpelier last year was $24,272.25. The need of a new high school building is being agitated somewhat in Montpelier.

Everybody is cordially invited to the Methodist church to hear the Rev. W. S. Smithers, one of the finest speakers in the Vermont conference, on Sunday, January 27, both morning and evening.

The ice races scheduled at Montpelier today include three classes—the green class, for horses which have never started; the 2:50 and 2:30 classes; all the races are for prizes, including, cash, blankets and whips.

The funeral of James B. Lafayette, who died yesterday of pneumonia, will be held from his late home at the corner of South Main and Quarry streets tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. W. A. Kinzie will officiate and the interment will be in Hope cemetery.

The entertainment at the pavilion last evening by Comi Bros.' moving pictures was a decided success. The seating capacity was full and many were standing. The entertainment was much enjoyed by all and many expressed a wish that they would exhibit again in Barre in the near future.

The Athens club and invited guests will have a sleigh ride to Plainfield on Tuesday, January 29. All those who live below French street will meet at the home of W. A. Lebourgeois at 2:30 o'clock, sharp, as teams will call at the homes.

The Tufts boys' programme consists of 12 numbers. Nobody knows how long their repertoire is, since their "pile" has never been exhausted, even by the many encores they regularly receive. They believe in having a good supply of catching hits to meet the demands which their splendid principal numbers are sure to cause. There are "trick plays" by the club as well as by the Tufts football team. You can see this organization on Friday night, February 8.

It was a small but appreciative audience to note the good work which stood out boldly from occasional lapses—that attended Jules Murry's "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," at the opera house last evening. W. A. Whitecar as Lord Lumley, the offended husband, Frank Armstrong as Signor D'Orelli, who took advantage of Lady Lumley's ravings for love and companionship, and Henry Carl Lewis as Giuseppe, another husband offended by the same D'Orelli, were very capable and had to respond to several curtain calls. Amanda Wellington as Lady Lumley and Rachel Sanderson as Mrs. Ruth Thornton were somewhat disappointing. The company had a hard sell getting to Barre, arriving in town just before eight o'clock in the evening, so that the opening of the performance was somewhat delayed.

Velma Lillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Coffin, celebrated her eighth birthday anniversary at her home, 218 Washington street, Thursday from 5 to 9 o'clock, by entertaining 17 of her young friends. At 9 o'clock refreshments consisting of cake, coffee, ice cream, etc., were served, after which games were played and songs sung by a few of the mothers of the children and Miss Pinkie Lewis. Miss Lewis played a march in which all the young people participated, led by Misses Velma and Avis Coffin. The Misses Mabel Gladding, Inez and Ruth Waterman assisted as waitresses and helped the younger ones to enjoy their amusements. The company dispersed at 9 o'clock, leaving many nice little presents to Miss Velma as reminders of the pleasant occasion they had so much enjoyed and wishing her many more like anniversaries. She wishes to thank them for their tokens and also those who helped her to have such a good time.
